CURESEARCH RESEARCH STRATEGY

Our research strategy accelerates better, less-toxic children's cancer treatments to young patients faster. To ensure the greatest chance of success, we support researchers through funding, guidance, knowledge and relationships to help them navigate the regulatory environment and clinical trials network.

ADVANCING THE DEVELOPMENT OF NEW, LESS-TOXIC TREATMENTS

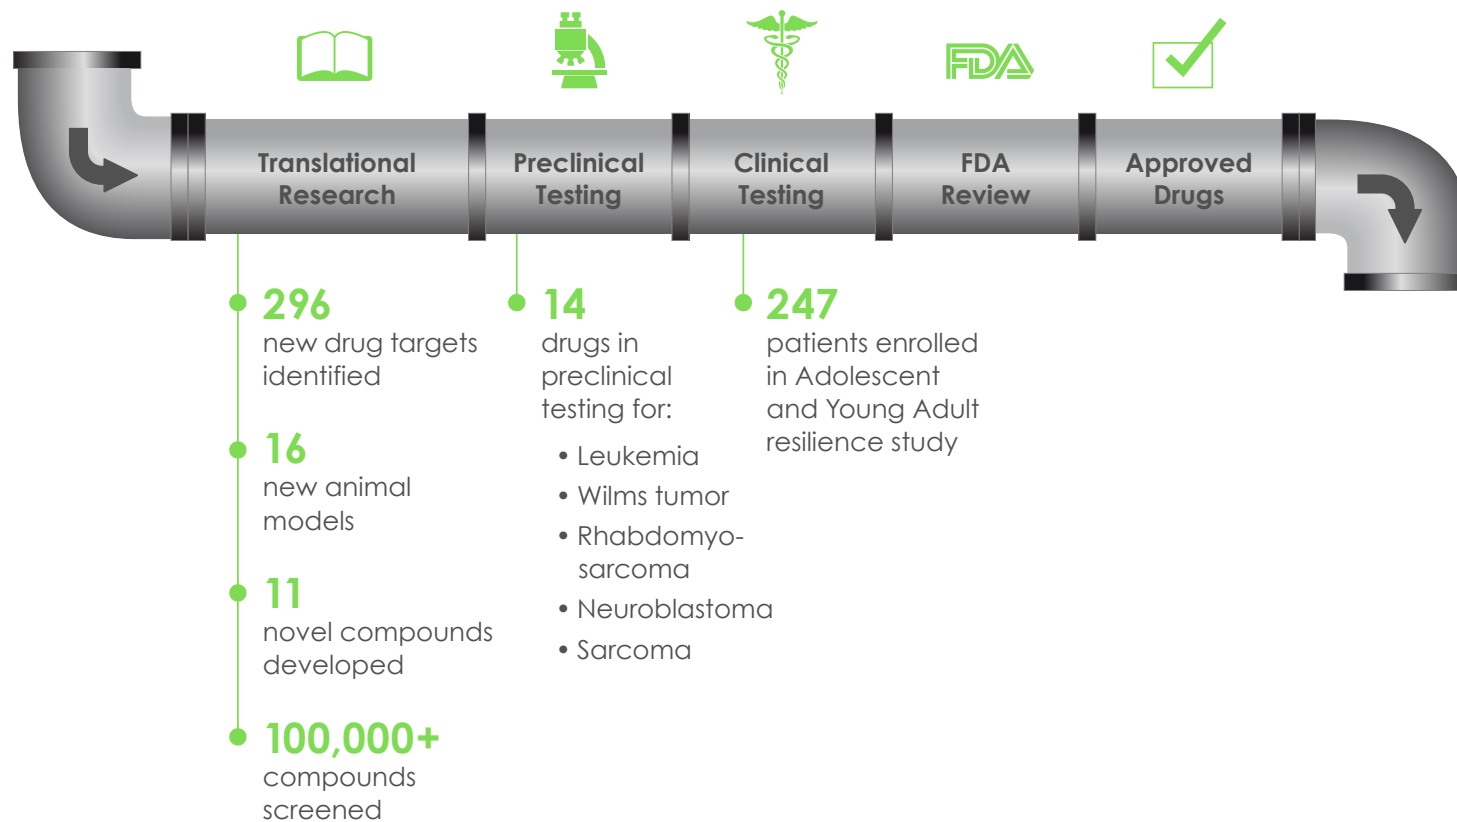

In November 2018, we announced new funding opportunities for all three of our grant programs:

- ▶ Our Young Investigators portfolio which provides seed funding for bright researchers, early in their careers, pursuing exciting, novel ideas.
- ▶ Our Acceleration Initiative program which addresses the largest obstacles in children's cancer research, driving translational research to the clinic.
- ▶ Our Catapult Awards which advance the strongest research into clinical trials and ultimately drug development.

This new funding will support projects that address areas of high unmet need in pediatric cancer research, including high-risk, relapsed or metastatic disease, adolescent and young adult patient populations, and/or the use of novel immunotherapy targets or modalities for treatment.

2018 CATAPULT SUMMIT

CURESEARCH CONVENES TOP LEADERS AT CATAPULT SUMMIT

In May 2018, CureSearch hosted the third annual Catapult Summit in Boston, MA, convening top leaders to renew our focus on partner relationships to help fill gaps in pediatric cancer. The recently launched IMPACT Series was born from this meeting, and most important, the Summit provided a platform for pediatric cancer innovators to develop relationships to accelerate drug development.
