LETTER FROM THE CEO

In 2015, CureSearch continued to focus on finding cures for the 40,000 children undergoing cancer treatment each year. We developed the Catapult Initiative as a way to drive successful research out of the academic lab and into pediatric clinical trials and eventual commercialization. We elicited and selected the very best projects with the brightest researchers, and then partnered with grantees to help drive their work forward. With the help of our donors, partners and loyal supporters, we are advancing the fight to transcend the barriers of a broken research system, because every child deserves to live a long, healthy life. It’s a fight we will never give up, and one we hope you will join.

Laura Thrall
CEO
CureSearch for Children’s Cancer

DONATE NOW FOR THE FUTURE EVERY CHILD DESERVES.
THE CURESEARCH MISSION

Our mission is to end children’s cancer by driving targeted and innovative research with measurable results in an accelerated time frame.

THE RESEARCH VISION

Improve children’s cancer treatment and cures to deliver the potential for childhood cancer patients to lead long, healthy lives.

OUR IMPACT

From the testing of 14 new drugs, the identification of nearly 600 new drug targets and most excitingly, one new treatment that promises to enter a pediatric clinical trial in 2016, CureSearch is driving research to results.

LEARN MORE about the impact we are having on ending children’s cancer.

IMPACT REPORT
We focus only on children's cancer.

We're not here just to fund research, we're here to drive patient impact.

Our Scientific Advisory Council and Scientific Review Board trust is unmatched.

We invest in large-scale grants over a three-year timeframe, which allows our researchers to focus on their work, not fundraising.

We hold ourselves - and our grant recipients - accountable through a novel measurement framework and frequent reporting to our constituents.

We build strong, long-term partnerships with our funded researchers so that successful work is supported beyond the scope of their original CureSearch grant.

We are bridging the 'valley of death' by creating unique partnerships with biotech and pharma to ensure that promising research makes it out of the lab and into the clinic.

We propel discoveries over the Valley of Death and move treatments and cures out of the lab and into clinical trials by bringing together leaders in academia, industry, policy regulation, private foundations, as well as parents to accelerate the fight to end children's cancer.
Through this $10M trailblazing initiative, CureSearch invests in the most innovative pediatric cancer research. We convene the foremost experts in children’s cancer treatment and research to identify the greatest challenges facing the children’s cancer field today. We then target grants that address the challenges in an accelerated timeframe.

All Acceleration Initiative research projects have the following characteristics:

- Highly innovative with the potential to break new ground in the field
- Probability of clinical application in an accelerated timeframe
- Ability to overcome scientific and therapeutic roadblocks to speed up the delivery of new and improved therapies
THE ACCELERATION INITIATIVE 1
$5M over three years (2013-2016)

Huntsman Cancer Institute
University of Utah
Epigenetics

$1.73M
- One lead compound close to pediatric clinical trials
- One novel biomarker study developed
- One novel imaging study developed
- 35 pediatric Ewing sarcoma biopsies

PROGRESS REPORT
“CureSearch funding has enabled us to complete the lengthy and costly phase of pre-clinical testing, producing a clinical drug formulation and safety testing. We anticipate a pediatric clinical trial to start late in 2016.”
- Mary Beckerle, PhD

The Regents of the University of California, San Francisco
Epigenetics

$1.88M
- Three drugs for high risk MB in preclinical testing
- 28 Pediatric brain biopsies studied
- Two novel tumor model designs
- One novel gene signature linked to high-risk MB

PROGRESS REPORT
“CureSearch support has enabled us to test FDA approved drugs or those in adult clinical testing that can be rapidly repurposed for children with high-risk medulloblastoma.”
- William Weiss, MD, PhD

Stanford University
Immunotherapy

$1.37M*
- One novel treatment for multiple pediatric cancers
- Two adult trials underway

*Studies deferred.

PROGRESS REPORT
*CureSearch is committed to research that has the highest probability of saving children as fast as possible. While we recognize the great promise in Dr. Kathleen Sakamoto’s Immunotherapy project, due to a significant delay in the launch of the pediatric clinical trials, CureSearch discontinued funding in April of 2016.

We look forward to seeing Dr. Sakamoto’s research progress, and encourage her to reapply.
THE ACCELERATION INITIATIVE 2
$1.69M over three years (2015-2018)

Two awardees selected in partnership with Rising Tide Foundation for Clinical Cancer Research.

Richard Gilbertson, MD, PhD
University of Cambridge
Targeted Therapies for High-risk Brain Tumors
$835K
• Three high-risk brain tumor subtypes
• Five new pre-clinical models developed
• Three compounds in pre-clinical testing
• One novel pre-clinical trial design

PROGRESS REPORT
“We are honored to work with Rising Tide and CureSearch on this exciting project...to improve the lives of children with brain tumors.”
- Richard Gilbertson, MD, PhD

Maria-Grazia Roncarolo, MD
Stanford University
Cell-based Therapy for AML
$855K
• Three new cell lines developed for novel cell therapy
• 40 pediatric AML samples in pre-clinical testing
• One clinical trial planned within three years

PROGRESS REPORT
“We are very happy about the award and look forward to working with CureSearch to develop novel therapies for children with hematological malignancies.”
- Maria-Grazia Roncarolo, MD
The CureSearch Young Investigator (YI) program is designed to attract early stage investigators and feed the pipeline for future Acceleration Initiative investigators. YI Grants fund transformational science designed to deliver the next generation of cancer treatment.
Encouraged by the promise and success of our first 12 Young Investigators, CureSearch awarded six new grants in 2015. The new grant term is three years and the award has more than doubled.

COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARDS

In recognition of the importance of psycho-social and caregiver resources and clinical trials in addressing the immediate needs of children with cancer, CureSearch launched the Community Impact Awards (CCIA) in 2015, awarding $500,000 to 24 hospitals across the US.

COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARDS (PATIENTS AND CAREGIVERS)
$240,000 awarded to 14 children’s hospitals across the US for programs to support patients and caregivers in these focus areas:

1. Psychosocial Programs
2. Professional Training
3. Educational Resources

COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARDS (CLINICAL TRIALS)
$260,000 awarded to 13 children’s hospitals across the US to support pilot and early phase clinical trials enabling nearly 150 new patients to enroll this year.

In partnership with Gateway for Cancer Research.

LEARN MORE ABOUT CCIA 2015

The awarded CCIA grants support community hospital programs in the following areas: art and music therapy, survivorship resources, adolescent and young adult transitions, school re-entry, biofeedback, psychosocial assessment of patients during treatment.

SUPPORTING FAMILIES

No family should face a cancer diagnosis without a fully equipped team behind them. CureSearch maintained its title as an authoritative source for education and resources in 2015 by offering:

INTERACTIVE RESOURCES
• Webinars for school, caregiver & family support
• Informational videos about children’s cancer

EDUCATIONAL MATERIALS
• Web content on coping with cancer
• Children’s cancer facts and figures

COMMUNITY EVENTS
• 24 CureSearch Walks
• 4 Ultimate Hikes
• 27 Gold Ribbon Events
• 19 States

CURESEARCH.ORG
• 498, 254 unique visitors
MILLION DOLLAR CLUB

A special thanks to recent donors who have given one million dollars or more to CureSearch for Children’s Cancer.

• C.H. Robinson Worldwide and Affiliates – MJ Golf Event
• Genentech Foundation
• Jacob Koenigs ‘Jakefest’ Memorial Fund and Kiewit
• Nick Currey Legacy Fund

LEGACY & CHAMPION FUND DONORS

CureSearch for Children’s Cancer offers Legacy Funds, a special way for families to honor their child’s memory and continue the fight against pediatric cancer through a named fund that can be designated to support research projects, clinical trials, or other CureSearch initiatives. CureSearch is pleased to also offer Champion Funds to recognize children currently in treatment or who are now victorious in their battle against cancer. A Champion or Legacy Fund is a great way to further your personal commitment, or your team’s commitment, to finding a cure for children’s cancer. In 2015, CureSearch for Children’s Cancer was honored to partner with families to sponsor the following Funds:

• Amy Miller Champion Fund
• Danielle’s Roses Champion Fund
• Eloise Gould Legacy Fund
• Jacob Koenigs ‘Jakefest’ Memorial Fund
• Joey Keller Legacy Fund
• Luke McGuire Legacy Fund
• Nick Currey Legacy Fund
The CureSearch CUREsaders are a special group of monthly donors that provide ongoing support to fund novel and innovative cancer research with automated monthly or quarterly gifts. Monthly giving is the best way to support CureSearch - it ensures consistent funds are available to invest in research and assist thousands of families facing children’s cancer diagnoses each year.
